Ondamax Films is an international sales agency and production company founded in 2007. In 2 years, the company has made a name for itself as a specialized "cinema boutique", working essentially with films from or about Latin Americans and US Latinos. Our first 12 completed titles reached 470 selections and won 75 awards in festivals including Sundance, Toronto, Venice and San Sebastian. Our main asset is the quality of our services and the relationships we establish with the filmmakers who trust us with their movies, the festival programmers who choose our titles and the distributors and broadcasters who acquire films from us.
